HAVANA BEING EDUCATED UP TO THE BOXING GAME

HAVANA, Cuba, March 29.—The task of educating the Cuban people to an understanding of boxing is now under full headway. Boxers are gathering here from all parts of the United States and bouts are scheduled for every night of this week. Pugilists of all classes are in training here. Around the training camps groups of negro youths spend all day at sparring, many of them cleverly. Several Cuban fighters are to have tryouts this week.

Wealthy Cubans are purchasing expensive ringside boxes for the Johnson-Willard championship fight next Monday. Hundreds of women plan to attend, making the fight a social function rivaling the opera.

The Governor of the province of Havana declared April 5, the day of the fight, a holiday after 10 o'clock in the morning. The promoters of the fight are endeavoring to have Congress declare the day a national holiday.

HILO JAPANESE KILLED IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence] HILO, Hawaii, April 3.—Takara, a Japanese, was killed on Wednesday morning on the Aiea road when his team ran away and threw him from his driver's seat. Three ribs were broken and the jagged ends were driven into his lungs. He died in an hour.

The strangest part of the affair was that a Japanese woman and her baby who were on the seat alongside the driver escaped without any injury. The woman braced herself with one hand and held her baby tight with the other. When the smash came the woman managed to retain her position on the bus and escaped injury. There was an inquest and the jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

HOWARD DREW THROUGH WITH OPEN COMPETITION

[By Latest Mail] SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 5.—Howard Drew, the sensational colored sprinter, is out with the announcement that the present season will be his last of open competition. Hereafter he will confine his running to representation of the University of Southern California, where he anticipates two more years of study. Drew states that he sees little hope for competing in San Francisco during the exposition games, as he has planned a summer trip through the East.

"I would very much like another crack at George Parker, though, in the future, for I am certain that I can beat him in another meeting. He is a great boy, but I am confident that I can take him down the line," said Drew.

LOOKS LIKE A GOOD YEAR FOR COAST LEAGUE

Some interesting sidelights on the Coast League, and its prospects for the present season, are found in the following, from the San Francisco Chronicle of March 30, the day the Coast League season opened:

The Pacific Coast League will inaugurate baseball in the United States for 1915 this afternoon.

First of all the leagues in the country to get under way and the last to wind up in the fall, the Coast League have been planning for two months past for the festivities today. For five and six weeks this spring have the various clubs been drilling and training, and that they have been anxiously awaiting the clanging of the gong to send them away, inadequately expresses their sentiments.

What with the setbacks professional baseball the country over received in 1914, the reception accorded the Pacific Leaguers will be awaited with interest in other sections of the United States, as an indication of what is to be expected, not only from a standpoint of patronage, but of general enthusiasm as well. It will be a test case in fact, and it is unquestionably up to Westerners to prove that the great American pastime is still on the upgrade.

In many ways the Coast League will open its gates under new conditions and in such a fashion as to merit the approval of fans this country over.

One shift has been made in the circuit and three important changes in club managements. Salt Lake City has taken the place of Sacramento that proved to be more or less of a financial drag, and a body of wealthy men, who love baseball for the sake of the sport, have taken hold of the reins.

Berry's Shrewd Move. Henry Berry, for years the backbone of the Los Angeles club, has purchased the interests formerly held by J. Cal Ewing and Frank M. Ish. That in itself was a move calculated to restore local confidence, but when Berry consummated that further deal by which he provided for the return of the Seals to Recreation park from Ewing field, he did something for which the entire league owes him a vote of thanks. The chill wind and the fog at Ewing field last season did more than anything else to keep down the attendance and to make the league season of 1914 a financial failure.

Berry's interests in Los Angeles have been taken by Thomas Darnoldy, the managing head of the club, and Johnny Powers, both of whom seem to be the right men in the right place. Management changes have not been as far reaching as was anticipated in the early winter months. Harry Wolverton, than whom there is no more popular skipper, is at the helm with the Seals, in the place of Del Howard, and already he looks to have justified the move. Cliff Blankenship is in charge of affairs with the Salt Lake Bees, and while it is no sinecure to build up a pennant winner in the short time he has had, his backers apparently have the utmost confidence in his ability along those lines.

Of all the minor leagues—and not one but was dealt a heavy blow last year from a box office standpoint—the Coasters seem to have come through in the best shape. With the double umpire system again in force and the teams quite evidently strengthened, there is every reason to look forward to a close race.

MOTORCYCLE RECORD MADE AT OAKLAND

[Associated Press by Fed. Wireless.] VENICE, Cal., April 5.—On a banked, circular, board track, Otto Walker of Oakland made a new world's motorcycle record for one hour yesterday. He covered nearly 69 miles.

After a prolonged conference between the Cabinet and King Constantine, the 1915 budget of the Greek government was approved.

Larry Lajoie is the Surprise of the Athletics' Spring Camp

Larry Lajoie is the surprise of the Athletics' camp. He is showing plenty of pep for so early in the fray. Just now Kopf is picked for third base, and, of course, Oldring, Strunk and Murphy promise to be the regular outfielders. Jimmy Walsh is subbing at first base. The Athletics do not appear rugged enough in the pitching department. Bush, Bressler, Penneck, Shawkey and Wyckoff, youthful veterans, do not impress the scribes very strongly for the work expected from them.

ARIZONANS LIKE THE PLAY OF THE CHINESE TRAVELING AGGREGATION

Here's some more about the work of the Traveling Chinese abroad. Says the Arizona Republican:

Five hundred wildly excited fans witnessed the downfall of the Phoenix "Pickups" yesterday afternoon on the Riverside grounds, when the Chinese students from the Hawaiian Islands took the long end of a 4 to 2 game.

The two teams were fairly well matched, although the impression gained circulation that the Orientals were laying low at times, and sort of drawing the Phoenixians on. The game was good all the time, and at times the plays came fast and furious. Strange to say, no special efforts were made to kill the umpire.

The first inning gave promise of what was to come later. Ayau slammed a hit over short, stole second, but died on third, when his team failed to bring him in. Pittman secured the only hit in this inning for his aggregation, and with the assistance of Barrett's two-bagger, came loyally home for the first run. There ended the scoring on that side, only in the eighth did they even threaten to come across. But the burly Kau saw it that there was nothing doing then.

The first score for the Chinese came in the third, when Kau circled the bags aided by sacrifices by Ayau and Chin and Lai's two-bagger. There was nothing more doing for them until the eighth was reached, when after Let had walked, Kau came up and helped him along with a single, the next man up struck out, but Ayau felt differently about it and drove a long fly into the cottonwood that graces the horizon on the Riverside diamond. It is doubtful if the ball has come down yet, but Kau and Yap didn't wait for particulars, and romped in home with two more runs. Lai made the next run for the visitors when he stretched his legs and reached second on a hot grounder, from where he easily scored on Yim's single.

Kau, the Chinese pitcher, was there all the time; at no time was he in the least worried over the outcome. In the last of the eighth with the score 3 to 1, Brown came up and drove out a long fly, straight into the hands of Let, the little left gardener. Morris, the next man up, walked, and Pittman came along and sent a hot grounder into left field, sending Morris along to second. Barrett grounded to third and Morris was tagged there, and retired gracefully to the pit. Then along came Big Griffin, the husky first baseman, and sent a hot grounder through short, and stretched his legs far enough to land him on second, with Pittman sailing in from second for a run, making the last score. Barrett calmly reposed on third. Pomeroy then faced the big Oriental and was presented with a ticket to first, making three on. About this time the crowd started yelling for a pinch hitter, and Leachey came to the front with a hot grounder to Kau, who booted it, but the ball went rolling straight into Lai's hands, who

ORIENTALS ADD POLITENESS TO NATIONAL GAME

The Traveling Chinese are going well on the mainland to judge by newspaper clipping sent home. Not only are they winning a lot of games, but they are getting a lot of compliments on their general behavior on and off the field.

Here's what the Arizona Daily Star has to say about the Hawaiian-Chinese players:

By SALLY JACOBS.

What a revelation the first ball game of the season was to the more than five hundred fans who witnessed the struggle that left the Chinese students victors, 4 to 2, over the Soles! The introduction of Celestials into the great national pastime will undoubtedly tend toward the moral uplift of the game. Their polite and courteous manner was contagious and it was noted that there was not a single unpleasant personality directed at the players or even the umpire, for that matter. Their few remarks that drifted from the diamond to the grand stand were delivered in perfect English and their conversation proved so agreeable to the local pastimers that they rather regretted that the boys from the Hawaiian Islands talked in their native tongue when in the field.

Although we are all under one flag it does seem deplorable for the chance to give up many of their distinctive styles and customs and to adopt our less attractive ones. How very much more picturesque the sport would have been, for instance, had those taking part appeared in mandarin coats and worn queues. All that reminded one that the visitors were from the land of chop suey and noodles were the names in the line-up, except Mr. Yap, whose father was doubtless a member of a well known American family of wide connections.

Mr. Lai was a favorite with the grandstand for it was popularly neutral applauding the good work of the strangers with the same enthusiasm with which they cheered their own men. It was Mr. Lai who caught Mr. Pittman napping off third. Of course no one could blame Mr. Pittman for taking a little rest for he needed it to make both the scoring runs for Phoenix.

The really spectacular plays did not occur until the eighth inning when Mr. Lai again won the unstinted admiration of the grandstand. He has the most marvelous way of doing things getting a great deal out of nothing, you know. He made a single and stretched it into a three-bagger just on account of a little home grown error. That wasn't all. He stole home when Mr. Horace Griffen endeavored to throw the ball over the grandstand, and why it should have counted for the Chinese is beyond human understanding, when it was Mr. Griffen who should have been given credit for introducing the amusing novelty in the otherwise good but not very eventful game.

One advantage they had over the English speaking players came when ever Phoenix had a base runner on. Then they would relapse into their native tongue or tongues, and the base runner never knew what was on their minds.

They left last night for Tucson, where they play today, from where they proceed on their journey through the East.

LEMAT WINS CROSS-CONTINENT AUTOMOBILE RACE

[Associated Press by Fed. Wireless.] SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 5.—Just 27 days after starting time from New York to the exposition grounds, 668 hours, was the winner's record in the cross-continent automobile race for the Lincoln highway trophy and a side belt of $5000. R. P. Lemat, the winner, left New York January 9, and arrived yesterday. Stanley Jones finished second, only a few hours behind. The route was the new Lincoln highway mapped out by pathfinder cars last year.

Harry Sheridan, aged 19, confined at the Pawtucket City hospital with leprosy since May, 1911, died at the hospital.

Troop H	2	7	.200

Pitchers' Battle. By the very close score of 1 to 0 Troop C was pushed from the tie for third position in the Cavalry League to the sixth hole by Troop D in Sunday's game. D thereby grabbed at least a temporary hold on the third place.

Although Jobe for C pitched a masterful game, allowed two scattered hits, walked no one, and whiffed eleven batters, his teammates booted a run in the first inning which cost them the contest. Bedarby for D also allowed two hits, but this pitcher had a team behind him that played airtight ball whenever a score looked probable.

Score by innings:

Batteries—Troop C, Jobe and Lippold; Troop D, Bedarzy and Clark. Bases on balls, off Jobe 0, off Bedarzy 2. Struck out, by Jobe 11, by Bedarzy 5.

FOREST FIRES ON BIG ISLAND BURN FOR WEEK

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence] HILO, Hawaii, April 3.—For the past week a big forest fire has been raging Mauka of Pihonua and Manager Henderson of the plantation has been busy night and day fighting the conflagration that has threatened the cane fields of his plantation. Tuesday evening, when the fire was first noticed, a big gang of men was sent out to fight the flames. A fire belt was quickly cut and the flames, which had just about reached the cane, were diverted.

The fire then worked its way along the edge of the fire track and also mauka. The men who were fighting the fire had a hard time and they stuck to their work night and day until all danger of their plantation being set on fire was averted.

"The men worked splendidly night and day," said Henderson, "and they never let up for a moment. We had a tough fight on our hands and we are all glad that we saved the cane."

The fire was set back a lot on Wednesday afternoon and night when rain came but it is not yet all out. The brush and trees on the sides of the mountain are still burning but it seems as if there is now no danger of any cane catching fire.

1ST BATTALION WINS SLASHING GAME FROM 3RD

Battalion Series, 25th Infantry.

	W.	L.	Pct.
3d Battalion	2	1	.666
2d Battalion	1	1	.500
1st Battalion	1	2	.333

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence] SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, April 5.—In the most sensational ball game witnessed at Schofield Barracks for some time the 1st Battalion, 25th Infantry, routed the 3d Battalion in the eleventh inning of Sunday's contest, winning by the score of 5 to 4.

As it was clearly anybody's game until the last man was out, and as nearly every inning contained its hair-raising episodes, the large crowd of spectators were kept in a frenzy of excitement throughout the struggle. Owing to the rule of the battalion series that prohibits one man pitching more than three innings in one game, nine twirlers found their way to the mound during the eleven innings.

The 3d Battalion collected three hits from Jasper in the first inning, which gave them a two-run start. But not disheartened, the 1st came up with a run in the fifth and three in the sixth, giving them a two-run lead which was cut to one in the next half of the sixth. In the eighth, "old man" Swinton was hit by Scott and promptly stole second and third, then scored on Fagen's hit, tying the score. In the tenth Swinton again reached third, but was caught between bases by clever work on the part of Allston and Gollub. In the eleventh, Fagen walked Gollub, who was forced at second, leaving Smith on first. Robinson then walked to the bat and laced out a three-bagger, bringing home what proved to be the winning run.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
3d Bat. 2 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 4 10 3

Batteries: 1st Battalion, Jasper, Phillips, Scott, Allston, Gilbert and Robinson; 3d Battalion, Shaw, Williams, Butterworth, O'Neill and Fagen. Three-base hits, Robinson; two-base hits, Taylor; double plays, Willis to Smiley to Russell; Crafton to Taylor. Bases on balls, off Shaw 1; off Jasper 1; off Williams 2; off Allston 2; off Fagen 1. Struck out, by Shaw 3; by Jasper 1; by Phillips 2; by Fagen 1; by Allston 2; by O'Neill 1; by Scott 1. Umpire, Collins.
